

WE WERE WARNED

Our silly people have a tradition, imaginary of course, that a Catholic as president, would call on the Pope for advice. Did you see the picture of our President, seeking advice, in this man-made controversy, in the Washington Post, Thursday, July 27, 1961? And who was the pope he consulted? In keeping with the traditions of his predecessors in office, he consulted Bernard Baruch, the adviser to Presidents since Woodrow Wilson. Kennedy has appointed 78 Jews to key top spots in his administration. The Americans for Democratic Action (a Jewish front) has charge of the government with Kennedy as the front.

Korea was supposed to have been a conflict under orders from the U.N. And who were slated for the slaughter? Why, American boys, of course!!

Department of State Bulletin, Vol. XVII, No. 422a, August 3, 1947: "Lieut. General A. Ph. Vasiliev, of the Red Army, Chairman of the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations, forwarded a report of the Military Staff Committee, containing recommendations on the general principles governing the organization of the armed forces made available to the Security Council."

Compare: Department of Defense, Office of Public Information, Release No. 465-54, May 15, 1954: "Many Russian advisers were attached to the NORTH KOREAN ARMY advance headquarters, established in June 1950. They wore civilian clothing, the major added, and it was forbidden to address them by rank. They were introduced as 'Newspaper reporters.' One of these advisers was Lieut. General A. Ph. Vasiliev! A prisoner also said he actually heard General Vasiliev give the orders to attack on June 25."

LAW ENFORCEMENT NOTICE

These are the hard truths that are addressed to conscience and to reason, and they cannot be shaken in upright minds by any intimidation.

The National Law Enforcement Committee is a private citizens law enforcement organization, that is well prepared for the work it has undertaken. The principles on which it proposes to re-establish our Constitution and local self-government, have been so scandalously and so often misrepresented, that we owe it to our country and to ourselves to state distinctly our intentions. I will do it with firmness and with a fixed determination to follow up with appropriate legal action all we profess.

We intend to re-assert the God-given inalienable rights for which the American war of independence was fought, and for preservation which the government of the United States was established. The ancient principles of English law and human Liberty have belonged to our citizens since the pilgrims and puritans landed here, whom I believe would have died to a man before they would have submitted to the grinding machinery of a criminal Communist bureaucracy under which they now have been ground to the husk.

The government of the United States is a nation of laws, not a mob of corrupt traitors and self-serving political adventurers. The free principles of self government on which this nation was founded are masterpieces of wisdom and human happiness and they must not be overruled or tampered with. We will make arrests ourselves under the authority of law given us, if it becomes necessary. The laws of our country wear their own crown and neither court the favor nor dread the resentment of the most powerful groups or combination of groups. They are invincible when fearlessly and honestly enforced.

We have adopted the words of President Lincoln in a speech made in 1859 at Cincinnati: "We will not overthrow the Constitution, but will overthrow the traitors who subvert it."

The public servants who make themselves too little to faithfully discharge the sworn duties of their offices, and the citizens who are swayed by cowardice, will find that their importance and concern in the world of tomorrow have shriveled to the dimensions of their cowardice or crimes. "The moving finger writes and having writ moves on, and all your piety and wit shall not lure it back to cancel half a line, nor all your tears wash away one word of it."

It is distressing to admit that we have never heard of a Grand Jury starting an investigation of these high crimes on its own initiative, to bring those who have betrayed public oath and public trust to arrest and arraignment.

Therefore, in the name of OUR LORD and the LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, we come before you giving nothing, and asking nothing, save and except faithful discharge of official duties, and we conclude the presentation of these facts, confident in the expectation that OUR LAWS will be fairly and fearlessly enforced; our NATIONAL HONOR VINDICATED, and that JUSTICE WILL BE DONE.

Respectfully,

Millard G. Grubbs, Chairman
National Law Enforcement Committee

MILTON S. MAYER

Mayer was involved with a group that allocated funds, set up a grant and loan fund in Chicago to aid Illinois state employees ousted for refusing to sign a non-Communist oath." (New York Times—August 26, 1955)

Krux Radio called the Syracuse Post Standard in Syracuse to verify the following quote from their newspaper dated Feb. 17, 1947. I was assured the quote was true and correct. Milton Mayer speaking in Syracuse on February 16, 1947 said, and I quote from Post Standard. . . "We must haul down the American flag and if I wanted to be vulgar and shocking I would go even farther—HAUL IT DOWN, STOMP ON IT AND SPIT ON IT."

In a speech by Gus Hall, the Communist, before Cornell University students on Dec. 7, 1961, Hall is quoted by The Worker (Dec. 12, 1961, p. 8) as saying that "‘revolution and violence were not synonymous.’ He reiterated his conviction that because of strong democratic traditions the U.S. was one of the countries where a ‘peaceful transition to socialism’ was most likely. He made clear that revolution meant a basic change in a social system, such as moving from capitalism to socialism, and not the method by which this was brought about. It could be peaceful, he stressed, and Communists will do all in their power to bring it about peacefully."

Compare Gus Hall's viewpoint with this quotation of Milton Mayer's (From 11th Report, California Legislature, Senate Investigating Committee on Education, p. 114):

"‘A radical revolution, nonviolent and only incidentally economic and political is necessary. There must be a reorganization of society from the top to the bottom. Capitalism is not worthy of your faith.’ He further said that "Capitalism did not work and it sets every man against every other in a system of competitive enterprise."

Remember, Gus Hall said the Communist Party has launched a campaign to work inside and alongside all peace organizations. Let us be sure of the kind of peace we are striving for — we don't want peace under slavery.

this the twenty-third day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-one at 1:20 p.m. CST.

Bettye Frink (s)

Secretary of State

The tragic course of events since May 23, 1961 indicates with increasing gravity the necessity for White Christian Alabamians to have White Christian representation in the United States Senate.

Therefore, I shall file as a Democratic Party Candidate for the United States Senate as soon as possible after the meeting of our Democratic Party Executive Committee on January 20, 1962.

To achieve our objectives I am requesting the more than one hundred and fifteen thousand (115,000) voters who supported my campaign in 1956 against the present senatorial incumbent to redouble their efforts from now until the May primary. I shall work night and day to get our message to all citizens of the State of Alabama.
